(iii) Means-Tested Social Welfare Payment

Social Welfare payments are broadly divided into three types:

- Contributory payments are based on your Pay-Related Social Insurance (PRSI) record. Whether you qualify for a payment depends on having a certain number of PRSI contributions. These types of payments are commonly referred to as Social Insurance payments.

- Non-contributory payments require you to satisfy a means-test and be an ongoing resident in the State. These types of payments are commonly referred to as Social Assistance payments.

- Payments and benefits such as Child Benefit and Free Travel do not depend on PSRI contributions or means.

Only means-tested social assistance payments count as a financial indicator for the purposes of assessing socio-economic disadvantage.

The most common means-tested social assistance payments are:

- Carer’s Allowance
- Disability Allowance
- Farm Assist
- Family Income Support (FIS)
- Jobseeker’s Allowance (JA)
- One-Parent Family Payment (OFP)
- State Pension (Non-Contributory)

Other acceptable means-tested social assistance payments are:

- Back to Work Enterprise Allowance – Self-employed year 2-4
- Back to Work PAYE work
- Deserted Wife’s Allowance
- Guardian’s Payment (Non-Contributory)
- Jobseeker’s Transitional Payment
- Part-Time Job Incentive Scheme
- Pre-Retirement Allowance (PRETA)

- Blind Pension
- Rent Allowance
- Supplementary Welfare Allowance (SWA)
- Widow’s or Widower’s (Non-Contributory) Pension

Social Indicators

(i) Socio-economic group (SEG)

A socio-economic group (SEG) is a measure of your social background based on your parents’ or guardian’s occupation and employment status. The measure is used by the Central Statistics Office to analyse the social background of the Irish population. Research clearly shows that participation in higher education is not evenly spread across the socio-economic groups. Children of higher professionals, employers, managers, lower professionals, skilled manual workers and farmers are more likely to go on to college than the children of non-manual, semi-skilled and unskilled manual workers. Eligible Socio-Economic Groups include: Non-manual workers; Semi-skilled manual workers; Unskilled manual workers; Agricultural workers; State Labour Intervention Scheme e.g. CE schemes; Never worked; Housewife; Permanently ill; Student

(ii) DEIS School

Delivering Equality of Opportunity in Schools (DEIS) is an initiative of the Department of Education and Skills aimed at lessening educational disadvantage and bringing about social inclusion in primary and second level education. Traditionally, few students from these schools go on to third level education. Also, children from DEIS schools tend to leave school earlier and do less well academically than students from other schools. Further information on DEIS, including a listing of all DEIS schools, is available on the DEIS website: www.education.ie.

(iii) Disadvantaged Area

There is very strong international evidence that living in a disadvantaged area can negatively affect educational attainment and progression to higher education. To meet this indicator, you must live in an area that is disadvantaged, very disadvantaged or extremely disadvantaged. Your address is checked against an index which indicates how disadvantaged your neighbourhood is. The index is based on information gathered in the 2016 Census. The country is divided up into small areas and each area is assigned an average score ranging from extremely disadvantaged up to very affluent.
