Who we are

The Bar of Ireland is an independent referral bar composed of approximately 2200 barristers who are members of the Law Library. Irish barristers provide specialised advocacy and legal advisory services to a wide client base both in Ireland and abroad, and have a well-established national and international reputation. At the Irish Bar, you will find a pool of highly skilled advocates and specialists in many different areas of law.

Irish barristers have outstanding know-how and expertise in arbitration, representing clients in international and domestic arbitrations, and before international tribunals. In international arbitration, Irish barristers work as part of a team with lawyers from other jurisdictions. A significant number of our members are arbitrators and accept appointments in international and domestic arbitrations each year.

Reasons to choose Ireland for international arbitration

Ireland is an attractive centre for international arbitration. Here are just some of our advantages:

- A modern arbitration law: the UNCITRAL Model Law.
- A long-established and reliable judicial system, supportive of arbitration.
- A dedicated Arbitration Judge.
- A common law legal system.
- A dedicated dispute resolution centre in Dublin.
- A highly developed legal sector.
- Accessible location: a modern, cosmopolitan city, Dublin is easily accessible from Europe and North America with numerous direct daily flights.
- A member of the European Union.
- Cost-effective.
- Ireland is a New York Convention signatory.
